Containing a full account, from authentic sources, of the poet's ancestry; of his boyhood among the Hampshire hills; of his early poems; of his ten years' life as a country lawyer; of his long editorial career in New York; of his intercourse with contemporaries; of his travels abroad and at home; of the origin of many of his poems; of his political opinions; of his speeches and addresses; and of the honors he received.

History of the People of the United States.

From the Revolution to the Civil War. By JOHN BACH McMASTER. To be completed in five volumes. Vol. I. now ready. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.50.

Mr. McMaster's history has been written in the belief that the history of a people leads in importance the records of wars and of governments, and the struggles of politicians. It opens with a most entertaining picture of the political, social, and industrial condition of the people after the peace with Great Britain; and the first volume ends at a period soon after the adoption of the Federal Constitution.

Animal Intelligence.

By GEORGE J. ROMANES, F.R.S. "International Scientific Series." 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

From the Preface.

"My object in the work as a whole is twofold. First, I have thought it desirable that there should be something resembling a text-book of the facts of Comparative Psychology, to which men of science, and also metaphysicians, may turn whenever they have occasion to acquaint themselves with the particular level of intelligence to which this or that species of animal attains. My second and much more important object is that of considering the facts of animal intelligence in their relation to the theory of descent."

The Parchment Series:

THE CHRISTIAN YEAR. By JOHN KEBLE. Printed in red and black, with a Portrait of the Author, from Mr. G. Richmond's drawing. Vellum, gilt top, $1.50.

OF THE IMITATION OF CHRIST. By THOMAS A KEMPIS. A Revised Translation. With a Frontispiece on India paper, from a Design by W. B. Richmond. Vellum, gilt top, $1.25.

Landmarks of English Literature.

By HENRY J. NICOLL. 12mo, vellum cloth, $1.75.

"We can warmly recommend this excellent manual."—St. James's Gazette.

The Science of Politics.

By SHELDON AMOS, M.A., author of "The Science of Law," etc. "International Scientific Series." 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

Contents: Chapter I. Nature and Limits of the Science of Politics; II. Political Terms; III. Political Reasoning; IV. The Geographical Area of Modern Politics; V. The Primary Elements of Political Life and Action; VI. Constitutions; VII. Local Government; VIII. The Government of Dependencies; IX. Foreign Relations; X. The Province of Government; XI. Revolutions in States; XII. Right and Wrong in Politics.

Hygiene for Girls.

By IRENEUS P. DAVIS, M.D. 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

"Many a woman whose childhood was bright with promise endures an after-life of misery because, through a false delicacy, she remained ignorant of her physical nature and requirements, although on all other subjects she may be well-informed; and so at length she goes to her grave mourning the hard fate that has made existence a burden, and perhaps wondering to what end she was born, when a little knowledge at the proper time would have shown her how to easily avoid those evils that have made her life a wretched failure."—From Introduction.

Financial History of the United States, from 1789 to 1860.

By ALBERT S. BOLLES, author of "Financial History of the United States, from 1774 to 1789." 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

This work contains a full account of tariff legislation, U. S. Banks, receipts and expenditures, deposits, organization and management of the Treasury Department, etc.

The Virginia Comedians;

OR, OLD DAYS IN THE OLD DOMINION. A Novel. By JOHN ESTEN COOKE. 2 vols. in one, 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

A new edition, in response to frequent applications, of a novel long out of print, and which on its first appearance, nearly thirty years ago, made a marked impression.

NEW BOOKS.

STUDY AND STIMULANTS;

Or, The Use of Intoxicants and Narcotics in Relation to Intellectual Life. As Illustrated by Personal Communications on the Subject from Men of Letters and of Science. Edited by A. ARTHUR READE, author of "How to Write English." 208 pages, 12mo, extra cloth, $1.50.

PUBLICATION OFFICE, 31 & 32 PARK ROW, N. Y.

THE issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for next week (March 24) will be the regular Spring Announcement number. Publishers are respectfully urged to send titles of forthcoming books, data for descriptive notes, and their advertising favors at the earliest possible moment. We trust that, in view of the increased labor involved in getting up this special number, our readers will bear with us in case of any delay in the date of publication.

NOTES IN SEASON.

FUNK & WAGNALLS have issued in their Standard Library, "Flotsam and Jetsam," an amusing volume by Thomas Gideon Bowles. The publishers announce that the success of this new series is surprisingly great. In the last eight weeks they report having printed 30,000 copies of Paxton Hood's "Life of Cromwell;" 25,000 of Williams' "Science in Short Chapters;" 25,000 of Haweis' "American Humorists," and 20,500 of Winks' "Lives of Illustrious Shoemakers."

HARPER & BROTHERS have nearly ready "Games and Songs of American Children," by W. W. Newell. Mr. Newell's object has been to trace, as far as possible, the origin and early forms of all games now commonly played by American children, and to note the changes which have taken place since first introduced into this country, most of them having come from England. They have also nearly ready "Dialect Tales," by Sherwood Bonner, and a cloth-bound edition of the autobiography of James Nasmyth, edited by Samuel Smiles.

R. WORTHINGTON has just published a very interesting volume on "The War between Peru and Chile, 1879-1882," by Clements R. Markham. The military and naval operations which have been carried on for nearly four years on the west coast of South America afford many important lessons to the students of military as well as political history. The author has had unusual facilities in pursuing his work and has made a conscientious as well as interesting account, which includes a history of the country from the rule of the Incas and Spanish viceroys to the battles of Chorrillos and Miraflores. A number of fine maps are given in the volume.

CASELL, PETTER, GALPIN, & Co. have just issued "Four Years of Irish History," by Sir Charles G. Duffy: "This volume deals with the most memorable incidents in the modern history of Ireland: the secession by which the marvellous authority of O'Connell was overthrown, his compact with the Whigs, the Great Famine; and records, for the first time, the secret history, the minutes of council, and private correspondence connected with the abortive insurrection headed by Smith O'Brien. It is not only written from close personal knowledge, but is founded upon unpublished documents, and upon the correspondence of nearly every person prominently concerned in these transactions."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready "Our Choir: a Symphonie in A, B, C, D, E, F, G, etc., Flat and Sharp, Major or Minor," pen-sketches of character as noted in connection with church music, by C. G. Bush. This is an extremely clever series of 20 illustrations, with commentary in verse. They have also published "A Mingled Yarn," a series of essays, reminiscences, and sketches, by Henry Edwards, the well-known comedian of Wallack's Theatre; "Songs of Toil and Triumph," by J. L. McCreery; "The White Nun," and other poems, by Agnes L. Carter; and "A Perpetual Calendar," showing dates a thousand years back and a thousand years to come, by F. A. P. Barnard, LL.D., of Columbia College.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE second and last instalment of an article by Prof. W. G. Sumner, of Yale, designed for the guidance of those who wish to study political economy, appears in The Critic of March 17, to which Mr. Matthews contributes a chapter of "Hints for Those who Know How to Read."

THE recent discussion of Mr. James, Mr. Howells, and other American writers, in the Quarterly Review and Blackwood's Magazine, will lend special interest to an article by Mr. Warner on "Modern Fiction," which will appear in the April Atlantic. Dr. Holmes' article in the same issue is on "Pillow-Smoothing Authors, with a Prelude on Night Caps, and Comments on an Old Writer" (Burton).

THE students of the School of Drawing and Painting connected with the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, have sent out the new issue of their handsome illustrated quarto The Art Student. The magazine has the interesting feature of representing the actual work, artistic and literary, of the students themselves. It is published twice a year, June and December, at 50 cents per number, and may be had in this city at Brentano's, who act as agents.

MR. E. C. STEDMAN'S essay on Emerson, which will be the chief literary feature of the April Century, is said to deal mainly with the poetic aspect of its subject. It will be accompanied by a portrait, engraved by Cole from a daguerreotype of Emerson taken when in his prime. Mrs. Burnett's novel, "Through One Administration," will be concluded in this issue of the Century, which is also the last number of the present volume. The Century for May, beginning volume XXVI., will contain the opening chapters of a novelette by Joel Chandler Harris ("Uncle Remus"), "At Teague Potect's," to be completed in the June issue.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William. Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

American (The) reports, containing all decisions of general interest decided in the courts of last resort of the several states, with notes and references by Irving Browne. V. 41: [Sept. term, 1880-Feb. term, 1882.] Albany, J. D. Parsons, jr., 1883 39+894 p. O. shp., $6.

Baldwin, Ja. An introduction to the study of English literature and literary criticism; designed for the use of schools, seminaries, colleges and universities. In 2 v. V. 2, Prose. Phil., J. E. Potter & Co., [1883]. 12+570 p. D. cl., $2.50.

Designed as a guide and also as a practical introduction to the study of the best and most notable works in the English language. The chronological arrangement usually adopted in books upon this subject has been in most part abandoned for the more natural arrangement by which works of a similar character are grouped and studied together and compared with each other. The student's attention is directed first and principally to books, rather than to authors; and the opinions of our best critics concerning these books are fully and freely quoted. For historical information regarding the times in which these works were produced and the circumstances which brought them forth, the student is referred to books of history, and for a knowledge of the lives of the men and women who wrote them he is sent to books of biography. Illustrative extracts are frequently given. There are lists of references appended to the chapters, which will direct the student to the best works relating to the subject discussed. In the "Index of authors" will be found a brief biography with a list of works under each name.

Bar, L. International law: private and criminal; tr., with notes by G. R. Gillespie. Bost., Soule & Bugbee, 1883. 32+766 p. O. cl., net, $5.50; hf. cf., net, $6.50.

The modern treatises on private international law may be divided into two classes; the first, mainly German, undertaking to settle all problems on general logical principles; the second, mainly French and English, consisting of a digest of the decisions and literature of the courts, both native and foreign. Each of these classes has its uses. But the former lacks the testimony of decided cases and precedents to adapt it to actual practice, while the latter presents, amidst a mass of useful matter, so few general rules and principles, that the reader is led to believe there are no legal principles in international law. To unite these two systems, and combine a thorough examination of particular cases with a logical analysis of general principles, Prof. Bar undertook the preparation of this excellent treatise. The list of two hundred authorities which the author consulted, attests the thoroughness of his investigations, and the result, embodied in one large volume, has become a standard authority in England and America as well as in continental Europe, though it is now for the first time translated into English.

Black, W. Shandon bells: a novel. N. Y., G: Munro, 1883. 68 p. Q. (Seaside lib., no. 1556.) pap., 20 c.

Carlyle, T., and Emerson, Ralph Waldo. The correspondence of Thomas Carlyle and Ralph Waldo Emerson, 1834-1872. Bost., James R. Osgood & Co., 1883. 2 v., 12+368; 14+383 p. D. cl., $4; hf. cf., $8.

A remarkably piquant and brilliant series of letters, crowded with interesting details of English, continental and American literary society, and a thousand other thoroughly charming themes, and giving the intimate thoughts, fancies and observations of the two most original men of the century. Never before was such a wonderful correspondence printed, extending over a period of nearly forty years, and overflowing with personal pith and point. It is history and biography in one, flavored with the gossip of philosophers, and it will be eagerly perused by all classes of readers. These original contributions to modern biography and philosophy have been carefully edited by Professor Charles Eliot Norton, who was specially designated for the work by both Emerson and Carlyle. Contains fine portraits of Carlyle and Emerson, etched for the work.

Firdusi. The epics of kings; stories retold from Firdusi by Helen Zimmern; with two etchings by L. Alma Tadema, R.A., and a prefatory poem by Edmund W. Gosse. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1883. 46+339 p. D. cl., $2.50.

Popular paraphrase made from the French version of Prof. Jules Mohl of the tales told by the Persian poet Firdusi in his immortal epic, the "Shah Nameh" or "Book of Kings." This poem ranks with the Iliad, Odyssey, the Niebelungen Lied, and other great epics of the world. It is the Persian national poem, and relates to the great and mighty deeds of the Persian kings. It consists of a series of narratives beginning with fabulous times and going down to the period when the old civilization gave place to Islamism. The poem by Mr. Gosse, "Firdusi in Exile," and an interesting introduction give some idea of Firdusi's life and place in Persian history.

The aim of this story is to stimulate its readers to work more actively in the cause of practical religion, to seek out the poor and needy, and to urge that while they are providing for the temporal and spiritual needs of the poor and unfortunate, they should strive to cultivate the talents which God has given them, in teaching and aiding those they help to care for themselves.

McMaster, J. Bach. A history of the people of the United States, from the revolution to the civil war. In 5 v. V. 1. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 16+622 p. O. cl., $2.50.

The period treated of in this volume is from 1784 to 1790 inclusive. The author thus defines the scope of his work: "The subject of my narrative is the history of the people of the United States of America from the close of the war for independence down to the opening of the war between the states. In the course of this narrative much, indeed, must be written of wars, conspiracies and rebellions; of presidents, of congresses, of embassies, of treaties, of the ambition of political leaders in the Senate-House, and of the rise of great parties in the nation. Yet the history of the people shall be the chief theme. At every stage of the splendid progress which separates the America of Washington and Adams from the America in which we live, it shall be my purpose to describe the dress, the occupations, the amusements, the literary canons of the times; to note the change of manners and morals; to trace the growth of that humane spirit which abolished punishment for debt, which reformed the discipline of prisons and of jails, and which has, in our own time, destroyed slavery and lessened the miseries of dumb brutes. Nor shall it be less my aim to recount the manifold improvements which, in a thousand ways, have multiplied the conveniences of life and ministered to the happiness of our race; to describe the rise and progress of that long series of mechanical inventions and discoveries which is now the admiration of the world, and our just pride and boast; to tell how, under the benign influence of liberty and peace, there sprang up in the course of a single century a prosperity unparalleled in the annals of human affairs." A very copious index.

Ogilvie, J. The imperial dictionary of the English language: a complete encyclopædic lexicon, literary, scientific and technological. New ed., carefully revised and greatly augmented; ed. by C. Annandale; il. by above 3000 engravings printed in the text. N. Y., The Century Co., [1883]. 4 v. 20+703; 6+694; 6+799; 6+795 p. Q. cl., $20; hf. rus., $30.

The publication of the "Imperial dictionary of the English language," as edited by Dr. Ogilvie, was commenced in January, 1847, and completed in 1850. A supplement was finished in 1855. In this form it has been before the public for more than a quarter of a century, and generally accepted in Great Britain as the standard authority upon the English language, and as one of the most useful dictionaries for the purposes of general reference and every-day requirement. It claims to be the first English dictionary that used pictorial illustrations in the text in a thorough and systematic manner. The present edition offered to the American public has been improved and augmented by ten years of labor bestowed upon it by the editor, the vocabulary being increased by at least 30,000 words, the work being now estimated to contain about 130,000 words or separate entries. The additions consist largely of terms belonging to science, technology, and the arts in general; words used by modern poets and prose writers, as well as by writers of all kinds from the 16th century to the present time, but not hitherto brought together in any one dictionary; Scotch words, provincial English words, Americanisms, foreign words met with in English books, etc. The encyclopædic method is combined with that of the ordinary dictionary, and the work is rich in illustrative quotations. The pronunciation is according to the best usage, alternative pronunciations being given in cases where more than one seemed to be well established. Lists of Greek, Latin, Scriptural and other ancient proper names, and of modern geographical names, with their pronunciation, are appended. Also lists of foreign words and phrases, of abbreviations and contractions, etc. The press both of this country and England unite in pronouncing the "Imperial" the most comprehensive and exhaustive work of the kind that has ever been placed before the English-speaking public. This handsome work comes in four handy imperial octavo volumes, with fair margins, and—we are glad to state—unlike the English edition, with cut edges; is bound in neat black cloth, is printed on excellent paper, and in clear, distinct type, with three columns to a page. The clean, clear page, and the general elegance of the whole work, claim the admiration at a first glance.

Rand, McNally & Co.'s indexed atlas of the world; containing large-scale maps of every country and civil division upon the face of the globe; together with historical, statistical and descriptive matter relative to each; illustrated by colored diagrams showing increase or decrease of population, wealth, debt and taxation, civil condition of people, chief productions, articles of manufacture and commerce, religious sects, etc.; accompanied by a new and original compilation, forming a ready-reference index. 6th ed. Chic., Rand, McNally & Co., 1882. 6+904 p., 93 maps, 251 diagrams, F., cl., $25; hf. mor., $27.50; mor., $30.

"There is no other atlas in the world that is in any way comparable with this magnificent work, which makes a volume of over 900 large octavo pages. It is called an atlas, but it is infinitely more than that. It is an atlas, a gazetteer, and an encyclopædia, all in one, and gives the student in every department of science, relating to the world and its inhabitants, a compendium of facts more comprehensive, more complete and more accurate, than can be gathered from any half-a-dozen other works. The atlas proper contains 86 maps in colors, most of them two-page, very clearly and accurately engraved, and accompanied by a very original reference index, so closely detailed that the smallest town, river, or lake in any part of the world may be found at once, and this index is even supplemented by the mailing-lists, which give the post-office address of every place in the United States. But the amount of statistical information in the volume is a wonder. Not only are all the features of geographical knowledge used in other atlases here reproduced and improved upon, but there is a mass of information in regard to the history, the industrial wealth, the political, social, religious and commercial condition of the countries of the world, all carefully tabulated for easy reference. The diagrams giving comparative views of the industries, religions, products, wealth, debts, taxes, commerce, populations and other features of the different countries of the world are original and very valuable. On the whole, the work is without a rival, and is an indispensable adjunct for every business office and private library in the country. It is a library in itself."—Boston Post.

Eight lectures entitled: The place of preaching in the economy of Christianity; Connection of preaching with the progress of Christian nations; Relation of preaching to free institutions; The weakened influence of the pulpit and its causes; Special requirements in the preacher of our time; Sermon-making; Kinds of sermons; Methods of delivery—extemporaneous preaching.

Romanes, G. J. Animal intelligence. N. Y., Appleton, 1883. 14+520 p. D. (International scientific ser., no. 44.) cl., $1.75.

When the author first began to collect materials for this work, it was his intention to divide his book into two parts. The first to be concerned only with the facts of animal intelligence, the second to treat of these facts in their relation to the theory of descent. As the material collected exceeded the limits of a single volume, he made arrangements to bring out the second division of the work as a separate treatise, under the title "Mental evolution," and also in the "International series." This treatise will not be ready for a couple of years. In the meantime, the first part of the work is offered as "a text-book of the facts of comparative psychology, to which men of science, and also metaphysicians, may turn whenever they may have occasion to acquaint themselves with the particular level of intelligence to which this or that species of animal attains." The unscientific reader will find the work a very enjoyable one, as it presents an authentic collection of very interesting stories about mollusca, ants, bees and wasps, spiders and scorpions, fish, birds, elephants, cats, dogs, monkeys, etc.

Sharswood, G., and Budd, H. Leading cases in the law of real property decided in the American courts; with notes. V. 1, 1785-1860. Phil., M. Murphy, 1883. 3-660 p. O. shp., $7.50.

A work of great importance to the legal profession; it is modelled upon Tudor's celebrated "Leading cases on the law of real property and conveyancing." The notes are as comprehensive as those of its English relative; they contain a greater number of subdivisions and present in a simple, but admirable order, a distinct view of the entire field of American jurisprudence upon each topic considered. The twelve leading cases in this volume were selected on account of the recognition generally accorded them as authoritative expositions of the law by the highest judicial tribunals. The subjects to which they relate, and which are elaborated in the notes, are: Fee simple estates, creation of, by deed and by devise; Estates tail, creation of, incidents and statutory regulations; Estates on conditions; Conditional limitations; Life estates; Dower; Curtesy; Aliens, and rights of aliens, with reference to real property. The notes embrace 284 pages, and contain references to over twenty-seven hundred cases. The index, which has been prepared with great care, covers one hundred pages. The entire work will not exceed four, and will probably be completed in three volumes.

Smith, R. Bosworth. Life of Lord Lawrence. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1883. 2 v. 16+ 484; 20+567 p. pors. and maps, O. cl., $5.

These two volumes contain the biography of one of the most remarkable Englishmen of our time. John Lawrence exemplified the highest and most characteristic qualities and virtues of an Anglo-Saxon, and his life is the history, more or less complete, of British rule in India during the most memorable period since Englishmen first gained a footing there. Lawrence's career is first traced, from the time when he went out as a young student for the Indian service, through the rapid steps that brought him into positions of authority and showed his extraordinary tact and firmness in dealing with the native population, up to the time when his position as the master of Indian administration was recognized in his appointment to the Lieutenant-Governorship of the Punjab. This part of the book not only gives an admirable picture of the man himself, with his iron frame and marvellous energy, accomplishing work enough for twenty ordinary magistrates, but is literally crowded with his own anecdotes of the native life in the midst of which his time was spent. But it is of course in the period of the mutiny that Lawrence, as the "Saviour of the Punjab," reaches his full development, and it would not be easy to exaggerate the power of this part of Mr. Bosworth Smith's narrative in awakening enthusiasm for his subject. No doubt the chief reason why the "Life of Lord Lawrence" has been looked for with such extraordinary interest in England, is that it was known to give such a history of this period as could not be written from any other materials than those in his possession. But it will be found that Mr. Smith has given it even greater claims to attention, by making of it one of those great biographies which form, perhaps, one of the most interesting groups in literature—the few books in which a vigorous individuality is brought out with perfect success.

This valuable work, now in the 6th year of its publication, contains more than its usual variety of official and statistical information. It gives in the most compact form for ready reference all the most important facts concerning American agriculture, manufactures, mining, shipping, railroads, telegraphs, banks, post-offices, public lands, pensions, patents, education, currency, revenue and expenditure, taxation, prices, tariff, imports and exports, public debts, investments, army and navy, etc. Contains also an official directory of Congress and the executive and judicial officers of the government, with full tables of the administrations and presidential elections from the beginning. To these is added a view of each state in the Union, with a list of state officers, finances, etc., and a succinct view of foreign nations, with notable events and obituaries of the year. The United States census of 1880, so far as officially tabulated, is also embraced. Mr. Spofford, the editor, is the well-known Librarian of Congress.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

RARELY do we have occasion in this column to call attention to an advertisement, but there is one in this number which is as good as an editorial. We cheerfully give it this additional prominence, not because of the high merit of the work advertised—such recognition belongs to another column—but because of the example set, which is one that deserves the recognition of every bookseller. It is only two years ago that on a similar occasion the WEEKLY said :

"We see no reason why, indeed, the methods of the 'agent' should not be adopted to this extent, that the local retailer should send to a promising customer's house such a book as he would be likely to purchase. At all events, we feel sure more enterprise in the retail trade would pay, and would secure for the regular retailer many books he now complains of losing."

And in the present case, the work is not one that already is in every good home library, but one which, on its first publication in America, is placed directly in the hands of the book trade. This is, indeed, a rare chance to take a hint and give it a fair test. Hence, if booksellers will not take hold of the work with a will, they can no more complain if this example remains an exception.

BUT, on the other hand, it is not enough for the publisher to make the offer without, also, giving it a fair chance. If the price you have put upon the work is a fair one for the people to pay—and in this case it seems so—then show the as yet unexampled courage to stand by it. Don't "go back on" the bookseller, who, trusting you, enters the home of his customer and asks your price which, again trusting him, this customer pays. It would be a grand chance for the "goode merchant" to make good use of your advertisement by labelling your book $15.95, making you pay the advertisement of his general business—with your money, your enterprise, your credit, and the credit of a trade.

IN connection with this we quote another significant advertisement which the London Bookseller thought worth quoting from the WEEKLY as a "timely hint."

"Booksellers who are interested in selling good books and in promoting education are asked to consider 'The Library of Political Education,' which also is issued, in accordance with 'Book Trade Reform,' at a close price, with limited discount (of 20 per cent) to the trade only, so that the books are not likely to be undersold."

THE DUTY ON BOOKS.

Editor Publishers' Weekly :

AT the present writing it is difficult to determine the exact processes by which, under the amended tariff, in the Senate bill, printed books, etc., were first put on the free list, and were then in the same bill subjected to a 15 per cent duty, Mr. Bayard, a free trader, changing his position after a day or two of consideration. In the Conference Committee the old or present rate was quietly restored, and so we are now where we were.

It is known, however, that Boston and Philadelphia were not idle, and that the printers and binders of New York were active, a committee of the latter having visited Washington after the Senate bill was passed. Several American authors wrote letters to Senators, in which they deplored a reduction in the tariff on books, as such an act would injure the rights of our authors! I have been deeply pondering the subject, and trying to find out how Mr. Steadman's, or Mr. Aldrich's, or Mr. Whittier's interests as American authors, all holding copyrights, could be affected by putting English books on the free list. Would the American public, by an ability to purchase Mr. Swinburne's poems at 25 per cent less, immediately drop Mr. Steadman? If Dante Rossetti should come in free would Mr. Aldrich be left out in the cold? This is the only way in which I can see how these lettered advocates of protection could be harmed. Already fully protected by their American copyrights, do they wish to be so protected by a tariff that the English author shall be shut out and the American people be compelled to buy their books or go without? I don't know. I am in a muddle.

I think I can guess how it came to pass that in the Conference Committee the duty on books was put back to 25 per cent. Philadelphia, which wants protection on iron, and everything else that Pennsylvania manufactures, does not care to protect foreign authors. Philadelphia always comes to the front in behalf of American industry, and Philadelphia had a representative on the Conference Committee, and Philadelphia is always loyal to itself. This is only a guess; but who does not know of the "Book Trade Association" of that city, largely composed of printers and binders? Has not this association been heard very positively against an international copyright law? and would it not be of interest to know how much it has accomplished toward delaying its passage?

Now, as you know, Mr. Editor, the amount of books which we import is very small compared with the amount we manufacture, yet I care not how soon books are put on the free list, if the raw materials from which we manufacture—paper, binders' cloth, etc.—also go on that list. If I am not mistaken, in the new tariff bill the duty on printing paper is reduced from 25 to 20 per cent. (Were the paper manufacturers asleep? Did they fail to see the possible 5 per cent injury that might thus be done to American authors?) The binders and printers of New York, in their petition against the change, foretold the utter ruin and extinction of their trade, should the duty be taken off—and yet the trade did flourish in the good old days when the duty was 10 per cent!

It is quite time we were rid of all this nonsense. If we would give one half the time to a calm investigation of the abuses which now prevail in the home trade, and to their reform, with a tithe of the labor which has been spent in securing governmental protection against foreign imports, we might bring back prosperity to a trade that languishes, and wipe out some of the evils which are a constant fret and worry and loss.

COPYRIGHT IN CANADA.

Editor of the Publishers' Weekly:

DEAR SIR—On page 15 of your issue of Jan. 6, in reprint of article from N. Y. Tribune of Dec. 22, 1882, "A New York Publisher" says, in writing about an arrangement made by him with a London house for an American author who desired to publish his book simultaneously in England, that he "by visiting Canada secured a copyright, that his English publishers might be protected from their brethren in trade." Now it may be perfectly true that the American author did this, and by so doing thought he had made his copyright perfect. That he is mistaken is shown by the action of the Canadian Copyright Department in the case of Mark Twain and his "Prince and Pauper." The department decided that Mr. Clemens had not legitimate domicile in Canada, nor could he have unless he were an actual bonâ fide resident. In fact, had Mr. Clemens made the declaration that he was "domiciled," he would have been liable to a heavy penalty—$200, I think—for such a declaration. An American author has no status in Canada. Beecher came over here to perfect copyright, so did Mrs. Burnett and Mrs. Stowe, but in making the trip they were throwing money away. Coming over to Canada and rooming at a hotel for a week or a month is not domicile. There seems to be no way in which the Canadian reprinter or pirate can be caught. He walks through the English copyright act, although it applies to Canada, with a coach-and-four, and the sharp trick played on Mr. Clemens, by the king of the Canadian pirates, shows of how little avail the English copyright act is. "The Prince and Pauper" was actually reprinted in the Western States and imported and sold in Canada. It is only a few weeks ago that one of Carlton's publications was published in Canada in less than a week after its issue in New York. The Canadians don't want international copyright. The law as at present suits their ideas better.

Yours, AN AMERICAN.

POSTAL MATTERS.

DECISIONS AFFECTING PUBLISHERS FROM JANUARY 20 TO FEBRUARY 20, 1883.

From the U. S. Postal Guide, March, 1883.

1131. ALL persons are classed as "news-agents" who make it a regular business to purchase papers or take them on commission for sale. This privilege is also extended to "news-boys" who purchase a certain number of any legitimate second-class publication. They can return unsold copies of such papers to the publishers at the pound rates. A news-agent is not required to have a regular mailing list.

1132. After giving the required notice to a publisher that his publication is refused, thirty days should be allowed to elapse before putting the same with other waste paper in the office.

1136. Corrected proofs of "printed circulars," or "printed blanks" passing between the job printer and customer, are subject to third-class rates when unsealed.

NEW YORK FREE CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

From the Christian Union.

THE Free Circulating Library of this city has made substantial progress in the single year of its experience. Starting with $30,000 the Trustees have purchased the building No. 49 Bond Street, and are now making it suitable for library purposes. The rooms which have been used so far are filled most of the time with readers, many of them children of the schools. Only the best books are kept, and persons who go expecting to get Zola are often induced to carry away Hawthorne or Howells, the librarian making it his business to educate the taste, so far as possible, and to suggest books that will not only be entertaining but profitable. The rooms are open on Sunday from 4 to 9 P. M. and are filled with quiet, orderly readers. The collection of books contains only 73,000 volumes, largely contributed by friends of the enterprise, but such good use was made of this collection last year that the number of volumes taken out exceeds 72,000. The average circulation for each volume was fourteen. This is an extraordinarily large average, and shows the need and the usefulness of such a library. The loss of books during the last six months out of a circulation of 36,000 was only three, and an analysis of that circulation shows that the tendency of readers is toward the most substantial kinds of literature. The plan which the trustees have adopted includes the establishment of small libraries of 10,000 volumes each in the centre of the poorest and most thickly populated districts in the city, the books to be selected with some thought to the locality in which they are to be placed; reading-rooms are to be attached to each library. This is a novel enterprise, and the capital which it will require ought to be raised without difficulty. It is one of those investments which bring in two dollars for every dollar expended upon them.

THE HARPER ART COMPETITION.

FOR the best original drawing which shall serve to illustrate Alfred Domett's Christmas hymn, which drawing shall be suitable for publication in Harper's Magazine, Messrs. Harper & Brothers offer a prize of $3000. Their conditions must, however, be understood by those artists who may compete for the prize: Competitors must not be over 25 years of age, and the money secured must be used for the prosecution of art study in one or more of the best American schools, including also a sojourn abroad of at least six months for the study of the old masters. The award will be paid in such instalments and at such times as shall best suit the convenience of the recipient. The drawings are to be sent to Harper & Brothers not later than Aug. 1 of this year, and are to be addressed "Art Competition, Harper's Magazine, Franklin Square, New York." Each drawing must be designated by an assumed name or motto, and sent with an envelope containing real name, the latter not to be opened until the result of the competition be determined. The judges of the competition will be Messrs. R. Swain Gifford, F. D. Millet, and Mr. Charles Parsons. The successful drawing is to be engraved in the Harper's Magazine for December, 1883. Should other drawings be found suitable, second, third, and fourth awards will be made, which will be used in the Weekly, the Bazar, and Harper's Young People. The Domett Christmas hymn, published in 1837, is the one for illustration of which artists are invited to compete, and a printed copy of it will be sent on application to the Messrs. Harper.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

SIR HENRY THOMPSON is preparing a work on "Vegetarianism."

MRS. SUTHERLAND ORR is at work on her "Browning Primer," and hopes to have it out this autumn.

THE Hartford Courant announces that Oliver Wendell Holmes is writing the life of Emerson for the American Men of Letters series.

MR. ANSTEY, the author of "Vice Versâ," has nearly finished his novel which is to appear in the Cornhill Magazine in the summer.

MRS. ROBERT C. WATERSON has written her reminiscences of Adelaide Phillipps, which will soon be published by Messrs. A. Williams & Co.

MME. DE NOVIKOFF, better known as "O.K.," is about to publish a biography of General Skobeleff through the London house of Longmans, Green & Co.

MR. MAIN has made a selection from his "Treasury of English Sonnets," which is shortly to be published in Elzevir form under the "CCC. English Sonnets."

MR. LEW VANDERPOEL, of Niverville, N. Y., is at work on a complete history of the old anti-rent movement in New York State. The work may be expected some time this year.

KARL KNORTZ is preparing, for immediate publication, the personal reminiscences and observations of William Windemann, one of the survivors of the Jeannette Arctic expedition.

ARTHUR S. HARDY, the young Professor of Mathematics at Dartmouth, is about to follow his scholarly work on "Quaternions" with a novel, which Houghton, Mifflin & Co. will publish.

PROF. J. R. SEELEY has prepared a volume to be called "The Expansion of England." The book is the outgrowth of his series of lectures on English colonial history, delivered recently before the students of Cambridge. It will be published by Messrs. Macmillan & Co.

MR. W. J. LINTON, the well-known American wood-engraver, has edited for Messrs. George Bell & Son a volume of "The Poetry of America, selected from One Hundred American Poets, 1776-1876." In the introduction is given "a general view of Colonial poetry and specimens of negro melody." The volume will be published in the Bohn Library.

MR. JUSTIN MCCARTHY is at work on an "Outline History of Ireland," which will go back to the earliest times and come down to the present decade. It will be published in several volumes by Messrs. Chatto & Windus. The same publishers will bring out Mr. McCarthy's book, "A Child's History of Our Own Time," founded on the author's large work.

WE learn from the London Athenæum of the death, which occurred recently at Goritz, of Miss Gertrude Grant. She was the author of several novels, among which may be mentioned, "Coming Home to Roost," "The Old Cross Quarry," and "The Great Gulf Fixed"—all published under the nom-de-plume of "Gerald Grant"—and of many shorter stories and sketches contributed to magazines.

MR. T. W. HIGGINSON, who had engaged to write a life of Franklin for the American Men of Letters series, has felt obliged to postpone the writing of such a biography since the acquisition by the library of Congress of the Stevens' collection of Franklin papers, which furnishes so much new material that it would be impossible to prepare an adequate life without a thorough study of these manuscripts. He has undertaken instead a biography of Margaret Fuller.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A. R. SPOFFORD has just published, through the American News Co., the "American Almanac" for 1883. It goes without saying that it is up to date.

THE title of Mr. Thwing's book, which has been announced by Lee & Shepard as "The Best Books," has been changed to "The Reading of Books: its Pleasures, Profits, and Perils."

EBERHARD FABER has just introduced an anti-nervous penholder and pencil attachment. It is composed of hard rubber, indented with finger holds, and is adjustable to any penholder or pencil. It is about 1½ inches long and fastened clamp fashion.

DAN LINAHAN & Co., of St. Louis, announce "Russian Nihilism and Exile Life in Siberia," by J. W. Buell. It claimed that the author made extensive travels in Russia and Siberia under the most favorable auspices, and that his statements are based on thorough studies of the subjects whereof he writes.

"GEYER'S Directory of the American Paper Trade" is now ready. It contains the addresses of manufacturers and dealers in paper, paper stock and supplies; lists of mills in the United States and Canada; lists of mills reported to be building to January 1, 1882; losses by fire in 1882; paper-mills classified according to goods made, and a number of advertisements.

HENRY BLACKBURN has decided to publish a supplemental volume to the "Academy" and "Grosvenor Notes," containing sketches of pictures which the original shilling volumes have been unable to meet. The title of the new enterprise will be "Academy Sketches," and will contain many full-page illustrations reproduced by the best known processes, forming a handsome pictorial record of "The Art Season of 1883." In this volume (which will in no way interfere with the regular issue of "Academy" and "Grosvenor Notes") it will be possible to do fuller justice to many drawings, and to include the works of some artists hitherto unrepresented.

RECENT improvements in the making of stylographic pens have made them a very serviceable and almost indispensable instrument for those having occasion to do much writing and who desire a convenient pen at hand wherever they may be. They have come into such general use that it is rather late to recommend them to anybody, but there have been some improvements in the manufacture of the Livermore Stylographic Pen relating to the fastening of the needle and the ease with which it can be cleaned and repaired, which have occasioned much favorable comment. The manufacturers have also reduced the prices of these pens, so that even those of limited means may have an opportunity of purchasing an article worth having. Those of the trade who have not yet informed themselves on this line of goods may address the manager, Louis E. Dunlap, Stylographic Pen Co., 290 Washington St., Boston, for particulars.

L. PRANG & CO. have published several new numbers of birthday and general congratulation cards, from 66 to 86 D.F. inclusive. These productions are characterized by all the high excellence of the firm's work, and do infinite credit to the artistic taste and skill of this country. Most of the subjects are taken from the floral kingdom, and there are presented in single specimens or graceful combinations, the violet, rose, lily, daisy, pansy, azalea, forget-me-not, etc. Beautiful landscapes are also conspicuous in the series. Mrs. Whitney, Miss Bridges and Miss Humphrey contribute some of their best efforts, as in 83, 85, and 86. The special numbers are 80 F., 81 D.F., and 82 F., of which the first and last are roses, clover blossoms, etc., printed on white satin, with mat, special silk fringes, tassels, etc. No. 81 D.F. comes in the form of a screen, having landscapes, flowers, and Miss Bridges' birds on white satin, with mats, special fringes, and elaborate leatherette back. We note that most of the numbers are generally applicable to anniversaries and memorial occasions. The poetry and mottoes have been judiciously selected, and in this respect as in all others, the cards satisfy the most exacting criticism.

BOOKS WANTED.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers are entitled to a free insertion of five lines, exclusive of address, in each issue. Repeated matter, however, must be charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Copy for this Department must reach us Thursday Morning to be in time for insertion in same week's issue.

THE BOOK TRADE

Stands firmly on its legs again, since the adjournment of Congress, for it has not the fear of tariff tinkering before its eyes now. The long-continued anxiety that threatened to demoralize American publishers has passed off. By the way, we have observed a somewhat curious phenomenon—that during all this trepidation, and we were somewhat trepid, too (you know what a panicky feeling will do with even brave men)—during all this time booksellers have been ordering, and, we presume, selling just as much as heretofore! That is strange, is it not? Passing strange, indeed! Now, our Solomonish-looking philosopher, our economical barometer, gives us this explanation of the wonderful phenomenon: 'Fact, energy, push, Young-America enterprise will sell good books, and make money, and spread intelligence, no matter what folly Congress may be meditating. He says that's why we've been doing business all this time—people want our books.'

Now, good books will sell, must sell, cannot be kept from selling. For instance, there is our Teacher's Bible. What taurocephalous Britisher could compete with it?—in merit, we mean. For that is the sole standard of competition, and the only one we recognize. You can buy inferior paper, poor ink, and indifferent labor cheap. But our catalogue will show you that a superior article may be had reasonably too.

Then, there is our Spanish Bible, really exported, and competing in other countries—if what takes the lead can be said to compete—our Spanish Bibles sell to the large resident Spanish population of this country, and go to foreign countries besides—are greatly admired for their unique beauty—and sell there too. The demand for them is steadily increasing, anyhow, and we are producing the liveliest kind of a commotion among our British and French rivals. They can't compete.

Our German and English Catholic Bibles. The new edition of our English Catholic Bible contains the Life of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of God. This is the only really complete English Catholic Bible published. Entertaining dealers in Catholic books will make a note of this.

We have been told that we don't let people know when we have a good thing. Well, we imagine a wide-awake bookseller knows a good thing when he sees it, and makes an effort to see it when he hears of it. We don't claim any great amount of enterprise in this direction. The fact is we are always busy. If you don't hear a big trumpet sounding the merits of our books, we are nevertheless engaged in our editorial rooms and manufactory devising improvements. We don't talk much about it. We prefer to do—and sell. And we generally do.

Our Protestant Bibles, German and English, are the foremost in this country—or any other country, for that matter. The leading Bible in this Series is Brown's Self-Interpreting Bible—the most popular book now sold.

There is a largely increased demand for our 12mos. We merely wish to refer to this now for what others have found profitable, you may wish to try also. Our list is complete.

A book that is challenging public attention, and has received a good deal of attention from the press, notices both favorable and adverse—what else would you expect from a book that is thoroughly original, courts nobody's favor, and follows no critic's idiosyncrasies?—is our two volume edition of Baldwin's Introduction to the Story of English Literature and Literary Criticism.

The demand for our Catalogue is increasing; there are more to be had yet, though.

The Queer, The Quaint, The Quizzical, A CABINET FOR THE CURIOUS.

By FRANK H. STAUFFER.

8vo, pp. 367, with full Index. Cloth.

SOME OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Never did a title to a book express its contents with more fidelity than the above, for the book itself contains a little of everything that is odd, queer, quaint, and curious. As a work of reference, or a volume to be picked up at leisure moments, nothing could be better. How and where the author ever found all these items and short bits of information is a puzzle to the uninitiated. A good index facilitates the work of finding what one wants to know."—Chicago Evening Journal.

"It contains a good deal of curious and out-of-the-way information regarding old and rare books, manuscripts, literary curiosities, comical blunders, queer laws and quaint characters, singular customs, rare relics, exploded notions, odd theories, strange prophecies, charms, amulets, superstitions, remarkable discoveries, interesting facts connected with inventions, together with a large collection of singular facts relating to animal and vegetable life. The volume is a large octavo, and is well indexed."—Boston Transcript.

"A most valuable acquisition to quaint literature. It contains 367 pages of curious information from 'many a quaint and curious volume of forgotten lore.'"—Notes, Queries, and Answers.

The remainder of the edition, consisting of 400 copies of this book, which is printed on good paper and well bound, will be sold at Public Sale in lots to suit purchasers, on Thursday, March 22, at 4 p.m., at which there will be other valuable books sold by catalogue, by

Our line of EASTER CARDS is now completed, and Sample-Books are being shown to the Trade. Same as last season, we furnish our Easter Cards plain, also single and double, with silk fringe. All fringed cards are provided with protectors and envelopes to insure safe transmission through the mails.

Envelopes are furnished, without extra charge, for all cards costing $1.80 per set and over.

Attention is called to the elegantly designed backs, a special feature of our cards, adding greatly to the artistic value of the same.

Our assortment of plain cards ranges in price from 80 cents per set to $6 per set, and of fringed cards, from $1.50 to $18 per set.

SPECIAL ATTENTION IS CALLED TO THE FOLLOWING SERIES.

No. 620 D.—“Easter Lily.” This is an improved edition of the folding “Easter Lily,” published two years ago, which proved such a great success, and for which we could not then supply the demand. Each card is supplied with cord and tassels, and protector and envelope. Price per set of 12, $6.

No. 620 D. F.—Same series, with special silk fringe, cord and tassels. Gilt stamped leatherette protector. Put up in boxes containing half-dozen copies. Price, per dozen copies, $15.

No. 621 D. F.—“Easter Lily with Bird.” Special attention is called to this design. It is a double card, heavily fringed, and with tassels, the outside consisting of Lily Designs, one with a bird on silver ground, the inside pages consisting of Butterflies on white satin, and Lilies of the Valley on Satin. Price, per set of 12, each packed in a neat box, $30.

No. 622 F.—“Water-Lily Easter Cross.” This attractive design, size 11¼ by 15¼ inches, fringed with heavy silk fringe, and provided with cord and tassels, will prove a very chaste ornament for hanging on the wall, or, suspended on a banneret stand, for the centre-table or mantel. Price, per set of 12, each packed in a neat box, $30.

Attention is called to our Line of BIRTHDAY CARDS, to which we have just added a number of New Series.

The attention of PUBLISHERS is called to the facilities of this office for indexing works of reference, the importance of which is now so much emphasized by scholars and critics; for preparing systematic catalogues of their books, the convenient arrangement of which is so necessary to the trade in consulting them for ordering purposes, or for adding indexes (by author, title, or subject) to catalogues already prepared; for furnishing information about any particular book or about books upon any subject; and for compiling, literary research, and other bibliographical work. Mr. Jones has been connected for many years with the office of the Publishers' Weekly, especially upon the American Catalogue, and has the reference library and other facilities of that office at his command for purposes of investigation. Correspondence solicited for estimates and suggestions.

OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

NEW EDITION, REVISED AND GREATLY AUGMENTED.

PUBLISHERS' NOTE TO THE AMERICAN EDITION.

This important English work is offered to the American public, without change or revision, in the belief that many American scholars will desire to have, for comparative reference, the dictionary which is commonly accepted in Great Britain as the standard authority upon the English language. More than ten years have been spent by the English editors in carefully revising the text of the present edition, with reference to new discoveries in philology, science, and mechanics, and in greatly augmenting the list of words and the illustrations. It is now probably the most comprehensive dictionary of the English language; and this fact, together with its encyclopædic character, gives it great value as a book of reference for specialists and the general reader.

THE CENTURY CO.

SPECIAL TO THE TRADE.

Of late years it seems to have been assumed that important and high-priced books cannot be sold to advantage through the book-trade, but must be issued on the subscription plan. The natural and appropriate channel through which to sell books would seem to be the booksellers. It is the bookseller who knows the bookbuyers in his own neighborhood, and knowing them, and the character of the works they require, he should be able, with skill and intelligence, to place before them the main points of every valuable work as it is issued. But in order to do this it may be necessary, in some cases, to adopt, to a partial extent at least, the methods of the canvassing agent. We invite the co-operation of the trade in the sale of the Imperial Dictionary. If booksellers will call the attention of customers to the merits of this important and valuable work, either at the book-store or at their own homes, and especially if they will send the volumes to responsible persons for examination, they will find for it a ready sale.

The Dictionary is printed on excellent paper, in clear, distinct type, and published in 4 vols., imperial 8vo. The copies we are now supplying are from the English sheets, and are unusual specimens of beautiful typography; they are bound in this country. The price of the English edition in cloth is 25 shillings (about $6.25) per vol. The price of the American edition is $5.00 per vol., or $20.00 for the set, in cloth; in full sheep, $6.50 per vol., or $26.00 for the set; in half Russia, $7.50 per vol., or $30.00 for the set. Booksellers supplied with prospectuses and specimen pages on request.
